Welcome!

Rapid change resulting from system and delivery reform across care settings has many leaders repositioning their organizations. It is a time of great opportunity and many challenges with little time to react.

It is essential that leadership inspire and motivate, while ensuring accountability. Leaders should not let uncertain times cause hesitation or paralyze their management teams as they ponder the implications and the impact on the organization's future.

This 2½ day conference delves deep into what leaders will need to do to prepare for the culture and sustainability of their organizations. We left no page unturned.

August 8, 2012: Pre-Conference: New Leadership Strategies For A Transformed Delivery System addresses the key transformation strategies organizations must make to position for new market dynamics. The new delivery system will demand that post-acute services “bend” from traditional models, address new clinical integration models, and figure out the opportunities and challenges of collaborating with ACOs. We bring you the latest solutions to the very problems you face everyday.

August 9-10, 2012: Leading Change For A Transformed Delivery System takes a look at strategies. The impact of change on the culture of your organization, the accountability of your clinical team, how physician opportunities can lead to new growth, innovation and action plan for leaders.

Networking: This conference is known for its interactive networking, peer-to-peer interaction and solutions in hand to implement the day you are back in your office! We support your endeavors and want you to have the best solutions to build your organization for success.

I look forward to seeing you.

Evolutionary Leadership Strategies: The “Natural Selection” Towards Value-Driven Innovative – In-Home Care Delivery Models

8:30 am – 9:45 am

9:30 am – 9:45 am • Interactive Discussions

Marriott Ballroom – 4th Floor

Creating a culture that embraces change and encourages a relentless pursuit of improved quality and efficiency, has led THA Group, as a freestanding agency, to spur innovation, For home health and hospice to “survive and flourish” in this era of “evolutionary” health care reform, leaders must “adapt” through the formation of value-based partnerships across the spectrum of health care providers. THA Group’s new Right Health™ Model represents a replicable, “naturally selected” solution for transforming the health care delivery model; resulting in better health and better health care at a lower cost through patient-centered, physician-led, technology-driven, “evolved” health care. CEUs

Horizon Homecare brings best and evidence-based practice recommendations directly to the point of care. Horizon Hospice fully supports the care documentation needs of hospice providers, from certifying terminal illnesses to performing the last bereavement activity. The system provides hospice Notice of Election and hospice-specific guidelines and assessments. It allows hospice providers to track personnel, including volunteers and per diem clinicians from associated facilities.

McKesson's newest solution for home health agencies is CuroSphere™. Designed to support the strategic operational and clinical IT needs of startup and growing home care agencies, CuroSphere is easy to set up and use, affordable and simple to maintain. We deliver CuroSphere via software-as-a-service (SaaS) – sometimes referred to as “cloud computing” – so there's no on-site installation of the application at your agency.
